

Mentor / Coach for Technical Leaders

LeadCTO

LeadCTO propels technical leaders forward with focused coaching and mentoring, tailored to tech leadership's unique challenges. Our direct approach and drive for excellence push you to grow and outdo yourself, accelerating your growth as a leader.

CTOs, VPs of Engineering, and other technical leaders at startups and growing tech companies have a uniquely challenging role. Their responsibilities change constantly, and they have to respond and grow quickly to keep up. Their domain is very different from that of their peers, and hard to explain. This often leads to misunderstanding and miscommunication, which can be very isolating. It's no surprise that the tenure of the average CTO is much shorter than other executives. With the right coach / mentor you can work through specific challenges or grow as a leader. Learn these -and other- skills from someone who has been in your position:

- Effective communication with peers and leaders
- Leading with clarity and accountability
- Working through conflict and towards alignment
- Creating a high-performing organization with empowered teams
- Managing your team while also "getting actual work done"
